

GLYNN LISTS LYNCH AS HEAD OF STATE LABOR DEPARTMENT

Governor Will Send Appointment to Senate To-Night and Expects Confirmation.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Gov. Glynn today announced that he would send to the Senate to-night the name of James M. Lynch of Syracuse, President of the International Typographical Union, for confirmation as State Labor Commissioner. He added he expected the nomination would be confirmed. The announcement followed a conference shortly before noon between Mr. Lynch and the Governor. Gov. Glynn declared that it was imperative that a head of the Labor Department be chosen as soon as possible.

"Mr. Lynch," said, "has been honored by all the labor organizations of the State and by seven-eighths of the newspapers. That demonstrates that he is acceptable by both workers and employers. There have been some communications from various employers' associations protesting the placing of a labor man at the head of an important State department."

"I am not in sympathy with such protests. The right kind of a labor man is entitled to be the head of a State department just as much as any other sort of a man. I am convinced that Mr. Lynch is the right sort of a labor man. President Roosevelt and President Taft had labor men in their cabinets and now President Wilson has followed suit. Why should New York State differ from the Federal Administrations in this respect?"

Gov. Glynn said he had conferred with several Senators, among them Majority Leader Wagner, and had no doubt that Mr. Lynch's appointment would be confirmed. The Governor stated that with the exception of a special message urging Mr. Lynch's immediate confirmation, he would have no message to send to the Legislature to-night. He expressed doubt of the leaders being able to assemble a quorum in the Assembly.

MARKED BILL IN POCKET.

Alleged Attempt at Blackmail Frustrated by Policeman.

Nicola Petrella, a coal and ice dealer at No. 1 Arden street, told Policeman Whalen of the St. Nicholas avenue station this morning that two men had demanded $50 of him on Monday, and, accepting $7 which was all he had, had announced that they would return to-day for the balance. He had feared at first to tell the police, but as the hour of their arrival approached he determined to get help.

Whalen marked a $5 bill with the number of his shield and gave it to Petrella, promising to keep an eye on his shop in the basement. Presently two men appeared and after they had conversed for a moment with Petrella, Whalen grabbed them. In the pocket of one he found his marked bill. This man said he was Leonardo Sabino of No. 224 Second avenue. His companion said he was Giovanni Carroera of No. 120 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street.

CUBAN LAWYER HELD ON CHARGE OF PERJURY.

Hugh J. Reilly, Millionaire Promoter, Is Accused of Senior Frias.

Jose Antonio Frias, who says he was once a Senator in Cuba, was held in $2,500 bail by Magistrate Campbell in the Centre Street Police Court to-day to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of perjury brought against him by Hugh J. Reilly, the millionaire railroad builder and promoter who loaned William Sulzer more than $25,000.

The case had been pending before Magistrate Campbell for several weeks, and although not sitting in the court, he visited Centre street to-day to deliver his decision. A surety company went bail for Senior Frias.

According to Reilly, Frias was his counsel in Cuba and for services there claimed half of the $20,000 bond issue of the Cienfuegos, Cruces and Palmar Railway Company. Reilly sued him to have this alleged contract set aside, contending that it was fraudulently obtained, and Frias swore then that Reilly had entered into it with him in the office of the Cuban Consul in this city on Feb. 28, 1910. The Consul and a clerk in his office made affidavits to the truth of this, but subsequently withdrew them, acknowledging themselves mistaken when Reilly showed that he had been in Cuba on that date.

GOLDGRABBER IS HERE.

Pegoud the daring young French aviator, who flies in his machine, upside down or upside up, with equal facility, is coming to New York to give a series of exhibitions. His advance agent, J. D. Goldgrabber, arrived to-day on the White Star liner Olympic.

"Pegoud will be here in December or January," said Mr. Goldgrabber, "and I have come here to make arrangements for a tour through the country. Just before I left Paris I saw him loop the loop ten times in succession. He is perfectly at home in his machine whether flying through the air, going up or coming down, sitting upright, or with his head hanging down. He has perfect control of his airplane."

Savage Dog Attacks Three Little Girls; Police to Rescue

Bronx Mother, With Baby in Arms, Sees Children Bitten by Mad Beast.

Upon the results of an examination to be made today by experts of the Board of Health into the condition of a small brown mongrel's head, the question of whether or not terror will come to the home of John Glasgow, at No. 126 Shakespeare avenue, the Bronx. For yesterday three of the Glasgow children, Ethel, Naomi and Helen, were bitten by the dog after he had followed them from the street into their home. The beast was killed by policemen after he had tried to bite other members of the family.

Ethel is ten years old, Naomi eight and Helen four. Late yesterday afternoon they were playing in the street with their baby brother George, who is one year old. When they climbed the stairs to their apartment on the second floor and their mother met them at the top of the flight she noticed that a small brown dog, with a chain collar about his neck, had followed them through the street door. Mrs. Glasgow stooped to take the baby's cap off in the open doorway of the hallway, and the baby fearfully put his hand on the stray dog's head.

The dog wagged his tail in friendship and Ethel stepped up to him to pat him. Instantly the animal's friendliness turned to rage. He whirled and sunk his teeth in the little girl's right hand. Then, as if the taste of the blood his fangs drew increased his frenzy, the beast turned upon Naomi and bit her so deeply on the right leg that the blood dyed the stocking. Just as the mother lifted the baby from the floor out of his reach he jumped for Helen's face and his teeth ripped a wound across her right eyebrow.

Mrs. Glasgow, the baby in her arms and the terrified children in full flight behind her, ran in the living room and slammed the door against the infuriated animal. Then she rushed a rally into the dining room, where the dog had crawled under the table, and closed both exits from that room. When her son Sam returned from work a few minutes later he threw a coat over the dog's head and bundled him into a closet at one end of the hall.

There the creature remained, growling and snapping as he tried to force the body of the dog. Mr. Glasgow returned at 10 o'clock last night. He opened the closet door to look at the dog, and the animal, terrified by the light, sprang into the hall, trying to bite his pursuer as he did. The dog then disappeared into the closet, from he was not and found two girls who came in and shot the dog dead.

SON DEMANDING $8,000 WOULD JAIL MOTHER

But Court Postpones Case in Which Coffin's Money Is Involved.

Everett S. Coffin, twenty-six, would put his mother, Cora Coffin, in jail because she has not accounted to him on the disposition of $8,000 which he won in a lawsuit for damages sustained in an accident several years ago in the Park avenue tunnel.

In Part I. of the Supreme Court to-day the matter came up on a motion to punish Mrs. Coffin for contempt in having failed to obey the order of the Appellate Division directing her to make an accounting.

Attorney John V. Judge, for Mrs. Coffin, asked for a few days' extension of time. Chester Mayer, attorney for the son, objected to the delay, declaring that he was ready to proceed with his argument.

"What is the purport of the motion?" asked Justice Newburger.

"Why, Your Honor," replied Judge, "this is nothing more or less than an effort on the part of a son to put his mother in jail."

"What?" exclaimed the Justice in great surprise. "If that's the case I'll extend the time until Oct. 28."

Roosevelt Butler Sentenced.

John R. Parker, a colored butler, who stole jewelry from the home of Col. Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, L. I., was sentenced by the County Court at Mineola yesterday to a year's imprisonment in the Nassau County Jail. The Court was lenient because he readily acknowledged his guilt and made what restitution he could. The only stolen article not recovered is a chain bearing the Roosevelt coat-of-arms.

CHOSE WRONG MEN TO TRY PUNCHES ON

Chemist and Friend Fined, Former Lectured, for Assault on Scientists.

William Page, a chemist of Philadelphia, and a man who told the police he was Douglas Watson, a broker of No. 36 West Thirty-ninth street, were prisoners before Justice Herbert in the West Side Court to-day, charged with assaulting Detectives Jones and Sutter of Inspector Weyer's staff. The police say that "Watson" acknowledged that he is really J. Drake Winters, President of the Mlle. Nordica Company, at No. 30 Fifth avenue.

The detectives said they saw a regular approach Page and his friend in West Forty-fourth street near Sixth avenue early this morning. They drew near and paid attention, hoping to get evidence to arrest the buggers. Page, they said, turned upon them with a stick, cursed them and struck Sutter several vicious blows before he was subdued. "Watson" joining in the fight.

A charge of felonious assault and intoxication was made against the two, who were locked up overnight in the West Forty-seventh street station. But Magistrate Herbert changed the charge to disorderly conduct. He said to Page:

"You are just a big bully of the sort that pick fights with men under your own size. Luckily this time you picked a man able to take care of you. Had he been a man without police authority, going about his business, you might have left him unconscious on the street. But as it is probable that you did not understand the purpose of the detectives in listening to your conversation you are fined only $2 each."

Subway Victim Identified.

Through the records of the Bureau of Immigration identification was made to-day of the man whose mangled body was found on the southbound subway tracks at the Intervale avenue station, the Bronx, early yesterday morning. He was John Wilson, who had formerly lived at Daisy Bank, Walton, Liverpool, and had come to this country on Sept. 20. His brother, William Wilson, of No. 116 Pomerooy avenue, Kearney, N. J., completed the identification nearly established by the police and the Government Bureau.
